International Neuroethics Society Membership Distribution 2020 Number of members Denmark Sweden United Canada Kingdom Countries with members Germany Countries without members Ireland Slovakia Netherlands Italy United States Greece South Korea China 180 Switzerland Israel Hong Kong Mexico Columbia This map shows the global member distribution of the International Neuroethics Society (INS), a professional Brazil association of scientists, scholars, students, and practicing legal and health professionals dedicated to the responsible use of advances Namibia Australia in brain science. As shown above, there were 300 INS members spanning 28 countries in December 2020. Chile New Zealand Argentina INS members are from a range of Membership distribution trends, 2016-2020 countries around the world, with every Members Countries continent (excluding Antartica) being represented in INS membership. 320 Members by country, 2020 Argentina: 1 Israel: 2 A majority of membership lies in Italy: 10 Australia: 10 North America and Europe. Brazil: 4 Japan: 4 South Korea: 6 Canada: 22 Chile: 1 Mexico: 2 China: 2 Namibia: 1 Netherlands: Columbia: 1 Investing in outreach could improve the geographic Denmark: 1 New Zealand: 2 diversity of membership and may make the INS Slovakia: 1 France: 2 Germany: 11 Spain: 4 Map and chart data were collected by INS more culturally and globally inclusive. Greece: 1 Sweden: 2 staff. No country data was collected for 2018, so an estimate has been included in the chart.

Hong Kong:

India: 1 Ireland: 2 Switzerland: 3 United Kingdom: 22

United States: 180